York, and it New York is a democratic state, as I hold that it is, he could carry the state. If, however, New York is not a democratic state, then it becomes necessary to take other things into consideration. The floating vote must be considered and it will be necessary to do some figuring. If Mr. Cleveland should be renominated it would be necessary to calculate whether the gains from persons who like this administration so long as it is not democratic would not be more than counterpainneed by the disaffection of dissatisfied democrats. The muswump will tell you that the dissatisfied democrats will amount to a very small number and the will tell you that the dissatisfied democrats will amount to a very small number and the dissatisfied democrats will tell you that the additional vote that would be attracted to the ticket could be put into your hat. With Mr. Hill as a candidate the full democratic vote would be held together and he would carry the state by a good majority."

"Do you think," was asked, "that in a contest between Mr. Cleveland and Mr. Blaine that Mr. Cleveland's vote in New York would be less than it was at the last presidential election?"

"Yes, I think it would be. I do not mean to say that any very considerable number of persons who supported Mr. Cleveland in 1884 would vote for Biaine, but the number of people who stay at home would be largely increased."

THE UNCOMPLETED CRUISERS,
Pending a decision by the attorney general of the question as to whether the cruisers Chicago, Atlantic and Boston can be completed by the navy department in view of the failure of congress to make a specific appropriation for the purpose, all work on the vessels has been suspended. The opinion is generally entertained at the department that the general fund appropriated for construction and repair can be used to finish the work on the cruisers. At the beginning of the present month $60,000 of this fund remained available after meeting the requirements of

ARMY NEWS.

Lieutenant Frederick L. a sailing fleet went to obtain crews for seal fisheries, the inhabitants of the locality and surroundings were reduced to such straits that they threatened to board the steamers and take from them such supply of provisions intended for sealing voyage unless immediate relief was granted to age unless immediate relief was granted to the starwing families by the government. It is useless to attempt to deny or conceal these facts, knowing well the temperament of the people and thoroughly convinced from the representations made that threats of plunder would be carried into effect. The government immediately sent relief by the coasting steamer Rover. Harrowing accounts of destitution reach Halifax from the northern districts and a press that deliberately suppresses facts and declares that there is no unusual distress is utterly insensible to the appeals of suffering humanity. The prohibition of the sale of bait will prove disastrous to the western districts of Newfoundland, particularly to Placentia and Fortune Bay, where the people's existence depends on the sale of bait to French and American fishing vessels.

Started on Their Long Race NEW YORK, March 19-The Trans-Atlantic keel schooner yacht race from Owl's Head, New York harbor, to Roche's Point, Queens town harbor, started shortly after 1 'clock to-day. Both yachts were in perfect trim, and fully ready to encounter gales, which are expected, and perhaps hoped for, the passage. This race grew out of the discussion among several yachtmen, last fall, regarding the relative merits of various American yachts in heavy weather. The Coronet has two distinct advantages over her rival, the Dauntless. She is larger and newer. She was built at South Brooklyn in 1885, while the Dauntless was constructed twenty years ago at Mystic Bridge, Conn. Betting is even. The Narrows were filled with numorous yachts and other sea craft to witness the departure. The last signal was given from Fort Hamilton at ten minutes after one and within a few minutes both the ocean racers had crossed the imaginary line, and started on their way to Cork harbor, the Coronet leading. The wind was twenty-four miles an hour and increasing. The judge's boat left the yachts when north of the light ship. At 2:30 o'clock the yachts were forging shead with a twenty-four-mile breeze. The Coronet was still leading by about a quarter of a mile. On board each yacht is a representative of the Associated press. the discussion among several yachtmen, last

The Pacific Railroad Investigation NEW YORK, March 12 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE.]—The World's Washington special says: Pacific railroad people are working very hard to control the appointment of the Pa-cific railroad investigation commission. An attempt is being made to influence the president if possible to appoint friends of the road or else such colories nobodies as are from time to time appointed government directors. WEEKLY BUSINESS REVIEW, More Life Manifested in Financial Circles

the Past Week.

The Produce Markets Attract More Than the Usual Attention and Reach Higher Prices-Recelpts of Grain Fair.

The Week in the Commercial World. CHICAGO, March 12 .- | Special Telegram to the BEE. |-More life was manifested in local financial circles during the past week, mainly attributable to the speculative excitement on the board of trade and the unusual heavy trading. Margins were called very freely by parties on both sides of the market, and in most calls were promptly responded to. Bankers have been called upon to furnish considerable assistance to parties who are not usually very large borrowers, but this was mainly due to the fact that parties who have been speculating freely, especially in mess pork, have large sums of money locked up as marging, and there was a good prospect that it will remain invested for six or eight weeks. Consequently they required considerable money to transact business in other branches. The free calling of margins on contracts for wheat has added somewhat to the demand, but parties who were able to present paper backed by good collaterals or endorsers of good financial standing, experienced no difficulty in securing such favors as desired. Bankers, however, were a little cautious in making loans to speculators, and insisted on wider margins than heretofore. Rather more money is being forwarded to the interior both by bankers and commission merchants, mainly to grain districts, as shippers are anxious to move their property before the inter-state commerce law goes into effect. Merchants in the wholesale trade are borrowing moderately, but their needs are not pressing, Bankers are well supplied with loanable funds, and there is no particular strength in the market. Interest rates are about steady at 51/4@6 per cent. Eastern financial reports show a little more closeness in money matterr, but borrowers, as a rule, obtain all the discounts required at about former rates. Foreign money markets are easier, and the Bank of England rate of discount has been reduced to 3% per cent. New York exchange was dull during the greater portion of the week. Shippers of grain were offering more bills and the demand was only fair, though more sales were made than during the week previous. Sales between banks were made Distress in Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, March 12.—[Special Telegram to the Bez.]—The attempts of the Newfoundland papers to suppress the actual facts about the distressing want and in some cases actual starvation in districts remote from cities, is simply infamous. In the district known as Green Pond, only eighty miles from the metropolis, where five steamers of a sailing fleet went to obtain crews for seal the past week and trading was moderately active. Prices ruled with marked irregularity, though fluctuations were confined within narrow limits. Opening sales were made at 62%c, sold at 61%co64c and closed steady at 63%c. Sales 15.268,000 barrels. The produce attracted more than the usual attention during the past week. The volume of speculative trading was unusually large, probably never exceeded on the board of trade. All parties appeared to have a general interest in the speculative branch of trade. The operator of small means as well as the millionaire—the buyer or seller of a single 5,000 bushels, or individual who was able to throw 1,000,000 bushels on the market, or could as readily take that quantity if offered—all indulye their propensities for speculation to their hearts' content, possibly to the disfiguring of check books and to the detriment of bank accounts. Markins were called for very freely in a general way, as operators desired to be secure, the large amount of money locked up previously making them anxious to protect trades for their customers as much as possible. Some parties estimate that not less than $15,000,000 has been placed as margins on speculative trades in wheat, corn and provisions. All the markets have exhibited marked strength, attended with considerable excitement, and frequent and quite wide fluctuations in prices. May delivery appears to be the center of attraction in all the leading articles. Wheat, corn, lard, short rib slides were most in favor, and all reached a higher scale of prices, though not fully supported. No serious financial troubles occurred. Three small failures were announced and these had no effect on the leading markets. There was rather more doing in shipping circles and more grain has been forwarded than for some time past. Shipments of provisions were fair and of provisions quite heavy. The stocks of grain and provisions are being gradually reduced. Foreign markets were stronger early in the week, but did not show much sympathy with the advance in prices he

He entered the nursery where Miss Peltz and another domestic were and deliberately shot her without an apparent motive. Berwanger then proceeded to the central police station, where he stated that a woman had been shot, but denied having done it himself. He was detained and inquiry made when it was discovered that his victim had died. A coroner's investigation will be had to-day. Berwanger had been treated at a private asylum, but his friends supposed when he returned to his home he had entirely recovered. had entirely recovered.

Work of Missouri Vigilantes. KANSAS CITY, March 12.—A special to the Journal from Springfield, Mo., says: Last night a band of armed men went to the house of William Eaton, thirty miles south of this city, and breaking down the doors fired a volley into the house. William Eaton and Charles Green were killed outright. Eaton's aged father was seriously wounded. One woman was shot in the head and another in the hand. The murderers then made good their escape. Mrs. Eaton affirms she recognized two of them. It is alleged that the attacking party are members of the Baid Knob Boys, a noted vigilance organization, and it is supposed that they killed Eaton and Green for being outspoken against them. Great excitement prevails over the affair. and Charles Green were killed outright.

Ainsworth Votes Bonds For Building Brown County's Court House.

REJOICING OVER THE RESULT.

The Leader of the Rushville Mob Thrashed By His Victim's Wife -Big Stock of Liquor Seized in Des Moines.

Ainsworth Citizens Happy. AINSWORTH, Neb., March 12.- Special Telegram to the BEE.]-One of the most important events in the history of this town since its settlement occurred to-day. It has been the county seat of Brown county, and Long Pine has been striving to take it there. A special election was called for to-day to vote on the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of building a court house on land donated by the town, the building to be of brick. There were 319 votes cast, 293 in favor of the bonds and only 27 against. The vote only includes Amsworth voting precinct. The contract will be let at once and immediate preparations will be made to begin work at an early date. People were here from as far as fifty miles away and there was great rejoicing over the victory. Sutton's cornet band is parading the streets, fire works are being discharged and there are other manifestations of joy. This there are other manifestations of joy. This town is one of the most important on the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad west of Fremont. This victory will give it new life and growth, as this will be the permanent county seat of Brown county. Land seekers are plentiful. Farms are in demand, and since March 1 the average receipts of immigrant goods have been three cars a day. Many more are on the way. There is no better section of country in this part of the state than Ainsworth, and her reasons for rejoicing are great. A number of buildings are to be erected as soon as the weather permits, and the settling of the court house question will give more confidence. Many farmers were yesterday and to-day preparing ground for spring work, as the last few days were very favorable.
